YORKSHIRE BEATEN

Hampshire Surprise at Leeds.
KEATON'S THIRD CENTURY
Sutcliffe and Hammond Score Centuries.

London, Yesterday.
The sensational defeat of Yorkshire at Leeds, in spite of a century by Herbert Sutcliffe, by Hampshire was the feature of the mid-week cricket programme. This is Yorkshire's second defeat of the season and Hampshire's first victory.
Keaton, the young Notts batsman registered his third century of the season when he scored 108 against Derby at Trent Bridge, and is making great strides in the gaining of an England blazer. Notts, thanks to his effort and the bowling of

BRITISH TENNIS STARS ELIMINATED

DISAPPOINTING DAY IN FRENCH TOURNEY

PERRY, LEE AND BETTY NUTHALL AMONG VANQUISHED.

COCHET ALONE MAINTAINS FORM

Auteuil, Yesterday.
Britain experienced a very bad day in the French Lawn Tennis Championships here to-day when all her players were eliminated by Continental opponents.

Menzel, the Czecho-Slovakian champion, accomplished one of the biggest feats of his career when he defeated Fred Perry, the British player, in the quarter-finals here to-day. Perry was fancied in many quarters as the ultimate winner, even against the challenge of Henri Cochet, and his sensational defeat by an outsider has cast gloom over the British camp which was most optimistic regarding Davis Cup chances in view of Perry's much improved form.

Britain experienced a very bad day all-round. H. G. N. Lee, who had given rise to optimism by his defeat of Rene Lacoste, succumbed to the onslaughts of De Stefani, the Italian champion; and Betty Nuthall sadly disappointed when she lost to Mme Mathieu, the French champion, in the semi-final round of the Women's Singles.

Menzel lost the first set at 6-2, but so fierce was his onslaught in the second set that he dropped but one game to level the match. In the third set, however, Perry again showed definite superiority and won comfortably by 6-2. Then came the tennis which thrilled the packed galleries. Menzel threw all that he knew into the game and driving beautifully on both hands he levelled the match at 6-3, and showing even greater brilliance in the final set won a memorable match at 7-5. Perry's magnificent powers of recovery entirely forgot him in the later stages in the face of the dazzling display of his Czecho-Slovakian opponent.

Perry and Staleness? Being in an easy half of the draw Perry was tipped to reach the final without experiencing serious opposition, and in some quarters was fancied as the ultimate winner. This was the first time that he has met Menzel in a championship match, but he was fully expected to win as he defeated Lyttleton Rogers, the Irish champion, who defeated Menzel in his path to the final of the British Hard Courts Championship at Bournemouth. But every champion has his off day and Perry's defeat must not be taken too seriously, though great anxiety has

CHINESE RAILWAYS ORDER 8 BRIDGES

ENGLISH STEEL FIRM SECURES BUSINESS

FOR NANKING-PUKOW FERRY

BRITISH IRON AND STEEL FIRM TO RE-ORGANISE.

London, Yesterday.
A representative of the Chinese Ministry of Railways has given an order to the Dorman Longs Company for eight approach bridges on the projected Nanking-Pukow ferry.

To Reorganise Steel Industry. London, Earlier.
Proposals for the re-organisation of the iron and steel industry will be worked out by a National Committee headed by Mr. Charles Mitchell, Chairman of the Dorman Long Company, it was announced to-day by Sir George May at a meeting of the principals of 40 iron and steel firms and members of the Import Duties Advisory Committee.

Sir George May stated that the committee was convinced that "the main value of the tariff would be to afford the industry an opportunity of putting itself in order on lines best adapted to this country and the diversified nature of the demands which must be met."

Recommends Permanent Tariffs.
He emphasised that if the present abnormal competition continued the Committee would not hesitate to recommend the continuance of the present emergency duties of 88.1/8 per cent as long as it was necessary. Provided that the industry did its part a permanent tariff would be sufficient to achieve the object in view. — Reuter.

WIGHTMAN CUP TEAM

Britain Relies On "Old Guard."

YOUTHFUL TALENT UNRECOGNIZED

London, Yesterday.
The British ladies' Wightman Cup lawn tennis team to play against the United States invaders at Wimbledon on Friday and Saturday has been selected as follows:—

1. Miss Betty Nuthall.
2. Mrs. E. Fearnley-Whittingstall (Eileen Bennett).
3. Miss Mitchell.
4. Mrs. King (Phyllis Mudford).

— Reuter.
The selection will disappoint, and the cautious policy of the selectors in playing safe by retaining the old players will be condemned. Betty Nuthall and Eileen Bennett, of course, were obvious choices but the omission of all the promising young players, notably Miss Kathleen Stammers, reveals a sad lack of enterprise.

The team, comprising four experienced players who have all represented England previously, is quite a strong one but appears less formidable than the U.S. team, which is headed by the redoubtable Helen Wills.

INDIAN CONSTABLE FOUND SHOT

Fatal Bullet from Own Revolver.

KOWLOON TRAGEDY.

An Indian constable attached to the Water Police Station was found dead on the road-side at the junction of Gascogne and Jordan Roads in the early hours of this morning. The revolver with which the fatal shot had been fired, was still attached to the constable's lanyard.

It is suspected to be a case of suicide.
The man's name is Charag Din, P.C. B.151. He had been in the service of the Hong Kong Police Force since December 28, 1920, and is described as a man with great intelligence, being far above the average Indian constable.

He was 40 years of age and spoke good English. He passed out of the training school in April 1921, and since that time had been stationed at Tai O, Central, Tsun Wan and Tsim-tsa-tau.

A native of Mohi Gate, Lahore Province, he was a Mohammedan. He was first appointed First Class constable on May 28, 1926, and was reduced to Second-Class on December 24, 1930, being reinstated to his First Class rank on June 25 last year.

Deceased was found lying on the footpath at the rear of the Diocesan Girls' School by a Chinese pedestrian who reported the matter to the first Indian constable he saw, at about 5.30 a.m.

The bullet, which must have caused instantaneous death, entered the right temple and emerged above the left ear.

P. C. Charag Din went on duty at midnight and should have returned from his beat at 4 a.m. Searchers were sent out from the Water Police Station at 4.30.

HUMANITARIAN POLICY IN PRISON

Senorita Kent Resigns in Spain.

Madrid, Yesterday.
Senorita Victoria Kent has resigned her directorship of prisons here as a result of the campaign by prison officials against her humanitarian policy, which it is declared, led to a complete collapse of prison discipline. — Reuter.

MURDER IN A FLAT

Five Shots After Cocktail Party.

KENT MAGISTRATE'S SON KILLED.

Knight's Daughter Under Arrest

Husband in America.

London, Yesterday.
Mrs. Elvira Barney, daughter of Sir John Mullens, the Government Broker, has been arrested on a charge of the wilful murder of Michael Scott Stephen, son of a Kent Magistrate, who was found shot dead in her flat on June 1.

Mrs. Barney is the wife of John Sterling Barney, the American singer, who is at present travelling in America.

The discovery of Stephen's body was made after the guests of a cocktail party had left for home, when five shots were heard. — Reuter.

FOUR HOME RUNS IN ONE DAY

Gehrig Makes Baseball History.

BREAKS 36-YEAR OLD RECORD

Philadelphia, Yesterday.
Lou Gehrig to-day tied the thirty-six-year-old major Baseball League's record when he hit four home runs in one day. As the result of his amazing feat the New York Yankees outslug the Philadelphia Athletics by 20-13.

It will be recalled that Gehrig tied with Babe Ruth, his team mate, for the home run crown last year with 46 home runs to his credit. This season he has scored ten, nine less than Jimmy Foxx of the Athletics.

In the same game Jimmy Foxx registered his nineteenth home run and Babe Ruth his fifteenth. Cochrane, Combs and Lazzeri also hit home runs.

Results of other games were as follows:
Brooklyn 5 Boston 5.
Wilson hit a home run.
Pittsburgh 6 Chicago 5.
Piet and Juyres hit home runs.
Detroit 1 Cleveland 8.
Detroit 7 Cleveland 10.
Jerrill hit a home run.

LORD STRICKLAND APOLOGIZES

Maltese "Church-State" Dispute Ended.

Malta, Yesterday.

An amazing unreserved apology to the Bishops by Lord Strickland for his antagonism towards the authority of the Church has dramatically ended the Church-State dispute here. As a result of the apology the Bishops have withdrawn the pastoral letter issued in May, 1930, enjoining the electorate not to vote for the Strickland party.

The terms of the Strickland apology sent to Count Della Catana quoted in the new pastoral letter are "Lord Strickland to Count Della Catana: I sincerely regretted that in debates in the English Maltese Parliament and on other occasions, in defending myself against political opponents, I clashed with the Church and her authority and used words that should be withdrawn and which he does in fact withdraw. Wherefore he humbly and unreservedly asks pardon. Further he is anxious to declare emphatically that during his whole life-time he has always been fully determined to be a faithful son to the Holy Church in Malta and his desires are to remain." — Reuter.

"JAPANESE MANDATE IN MANCHURIA"

It has been ascertained that the Chinese have not made any further application regarding the report of the Lytton Commission's procedure in Manchuria since the request of Dr. W. W. Yen for information on how far Japan had carried out its agreement to withdraw from the Railway.

"Lord Lytton suggested nothing of the kind," was the authoritative response to the enquiry concerning a rumour that Lord Lytton had recommended a Japanese Mandate in Manchuria. — Reuter.

The Lytton Commission's report is not expected for some time. It has been ascertained that the Chinese have not made any further application regarding the report of the Lytton Commission's procedure in Manchuria since the request of Dr. W. W. Yen for information on how far Japan had carried out its agreement to withdraw from the Railway.

"Lord Lytton suggested nothing of the kind," was the authoritative response to the enquiry concerning a rumour that Lord Lytton had recommended a Japanese Mandate in Manchuria. — Reuter.

MORGAN TO THE RESCUE

$100,000,000 to Help Bond Market.

RELIEF FOR UNEMPLOYED

President's Opposition to Dole

Government and Financial leaders in America are co-operating to combat the present business depression. The U.S. of America finance, Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, has announced the formation of a huge $100,000,000 corporation to bolster the bond market which has recently seen an unprecedented depreciation in the value of securities.

An appropriation for $2,300,000,000 for the relief of unemployment has been favourably reported on by a committee of Congress although it is bitterly opposed by President Hoover and the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Ogden Mills, both of whom are antagonistic to any legislation favouring of the "dole" system.

New York, Yesterday.
Mr. Pierpont Morgan has announced the formation of a great security investment corporation the object of which is for supporting the Bond market. $100,000,000 has already been subscribed. — Reuter's American Service.

Washington, Yesterday.
In the House the Ways and Means Committee reported favourably on the Garner Bill appropriating $2,300,000,000 for the relief of unemployment. President Hoover and Mr. Ogden Mills both bitterly opposed the measure.

The Democratic Caucus Representatives voted in favour of supporting the Garner Bill (sponsored by the speaker, W. Garner) in its entirety.

Economic Conference.
The United States Government favours the wide membership proposed for the World Economic Conference including Russia, the Argentine and Spain, while as the question of the stabilisation of silver will presumably be discussed, Mexico, Peru and China and other silver users should be represented. — Reuter's American Service.

GOVERNMENT DECIDES

Future of City Hall.

NO INTENTION TO RE-ERECT ON SITE

Provisions to Be Made for Public Amenities.

The Government is disposing of the question of the future of the City Hall by deciding to resume possession of the entire property. A part of it is to be sold and the remainder is to be developed under a general town planning scheme.

The City Hall, it will be remembered, was commenced as a building by the Building Authority of the Public Works Department and it has been closed to use since the beginning of the year. Government's resumption of the City Hall is provided for by an Ordinance the draft of which is published in the Government Gazette.

Objects and Reasons.
The objects and reasons give the history of the City Hall site which by indenture of Crown Lease was granted by the late Queen Victoria, subject to the payment of the nominal sum of $5 and reserved rental of $1 per annum for the term of 999 years from March 1, 1866. The lessees were Messrs. A. Turing, J. Macdonnell, and Phineas Ryrie. There was the usual lessee covenants in the indenture, including a $10,000 building covenant.

The Daughter In The Home

Little girls nowadays take a great interest in clothes. Perhaps they always did, but, years ago, when it was impressed upon the child that she was to be seen and not heard, one had less opportunity of finding out her tastes. Children may be permitted to give their opinions in matters sartorial, but, it by no means follows that they should have their own way. A taste for dress, like everything else, has to be cultivated, and few children can be expected to know what is good according to older standards. A few fal lals in doubtful taste might be permitted in the home circle, if only to get the taste for them out of their systems, for culture in that, as in other things, will come in time. Combination of colours, and suitability to the occasion, should receive direction from the mother, as that is of educational value to a girl.

Like Mother's.

Juvenile fashions are a big item in many of the shops and the trend at the moment is for them to be modified replicas of their mother's clothes.

Take coats, for instance; the smart line is the straight one with a slight waist, but most children's coats are straight without the waist definition. Many of them have the circular yokes which are so attractive to youthful chubbiness, and little turndown Peter Pan collars.

Magyar sleeves are becoming popular again, and in some little coats, particularly the soft face cloth ones, there are tiny capes finishing just over the top of each sleeve. These are most useful if detachable.

Beltsless Coats.

There are no belts on the little girls' coats at all; they hang perfectly straight from the shoulders, flaring slightly at the hem.

Three or five buttons are always at the top.

The older girl over ten is given a slightly more grown-up appearance by her short, stand-up collar with revers in front and two buttons at the waist. These coats are generally in tiny patterned tweeds.

Jaunty Feathers.

Hats are of the skull cap variety or the glengarry type with a sectional crown pointed in front towards one eye and with a jaunty feather stuck in one side. Both are worn well at the back of the head.

All the frocks have belts. The day or school-time ones have a slight V-neck and no collar, but are decorated with a flat crossway band ending in buttons at one side. They have skirts with a centre panel and side flares and long plain sleeves.

Smocking.

For party and best frocks the all-round flared skirt is most favoured with sometimes two hip frills, and the round neckline is softened by a wide cape of some soft material which falls over the shoulders.

Sprigged and spotted silks, muslins and cottons are most popular, and if the material is plain it is sometimes shirred at the top of the skirt where it joins the bodice.

There is smocking on nursery frocks.

A Bathing Suit For Baby

"Mater" Tells You How To Knit One

The following directions will tell you how to knit a very neat little woollen bathing suit for Baby, which will no doubt be of great use when you take him to the Swimming Club or if you are one of those lucky ones who possess their own swimming pool, quite a lot of people on rubber estates do by the way. The original design was intended to fit a babe of one to two years old, but the clever knitter could adapt the size to fit any little child. The colours used were yellow for the stripes across the back and front and blue for the rest of the garment.

Materials and Measurements.
The suit measures 11 inches from the shoulder to the lower edge, and 10 inches across the bodice. To make it you will require 2 ounces of blue 4-ply Crocus wool (Paton and Baldwins) and 1 ounce of yellow. You will also need a pair of No. 9 needles. The work is done in one piece beginning at the waist-line in front, which is afterwards joined at the lower edge of the bodice part. The stripes of the top are graduated in width and the drawers are plain.

The Front.
Cast on 66 stitches and work in ribbing (1 plain, 1 purl) for ten rows. Then work in stocking stitch (1 row plain and 1 row purl), increasing 1 stitch at both ends of the work by knitting into the back and front of the last stitch, every sixth row, until you have 80 stitches on the needle. At the beginning of the next 10 rows cast off 6 stitches, which will leave 20 stitches in the centre of the work. Work 1 row across all the 20 stitches then at the beginning of the next 10 rows cast on 6 stitches. Now continue in stocking stitch, decreasing one stitch at both ends of the work every sixth row until you have 66 stitches on the needle.

Shaping the Back.
With the right side of the work towards you, knit to within 10 stitches from the end of the row; turn. (always slipping the first stitch).

Next row. Purl to within 10 stitches from the end of the row, turn.

Next row. Knit to within 15 stitches from the end of the row, turn.

Next row. Purl to within 15 stitches from the end of the row, turn.

Next row. Knit to within 20 stitches from the end of the row, turn.

Next row. Purl to within 20 stitches from the end of the row, turn.

Next row. Knit to within 25 stitches from the end of the row, turn.

Next row. Purl to within 25 stitches from the end of the row, turn.

Now work across all the stitches, and work 10 rows of 1 plain, 1 purl. Then join on the yellow wool (still working in the stocking stitch) and work 8 rows in yellow, then 8 in blue, 6 in yellow, 6 in blue, 6 in yellow, 4 in blue, 2 in yellow, 2 in blue.

Next row. With the right side of the work towards you, cast off for the neck. Knit 24 stitches, cast off 16 stitches, knit 24. Then knit on these last 24 stitches, decreasing 1 stitch at both ends of the work every other row until you have only 10 stitches remaining. Knit on these for 8 inches. Now, at the inside edge of the work increase 1 stitch at both ends of the work every other row until you have 24 stitches on the needle. Break off the wool and join again on the inside edge of the other side and work the same thing to correspond.

When both straps have been worked to the same point, cast on 16 stitches in the centre for the front of the bodice part. You will now have 66 stitches on the needle. Now work 2 rows in blue, 2 in yellow, 4 in blue, 4 in yellow, 6 in blue, 6 in yellow, 8 in blue; 8 in yellow. Cast off.

To Make Up

Join the front of the bodice to the centre of the knicker part, and join up the sides. Press on the wrong side with a hot iron over a damp cloth.

I think you will find this little suit is well worth the trouble of knitting and the wool required should not cost more than a dollar at most.

Cookery Notes By Mater

"Boiled Beef And Carrots"

Most of us are fond of this well-known English dish and it is both economical and a pleasant change from the usual week-end roast. Being salted beef it need not be cooked so quickly upon arrival as fresh meat and it will last for several cold tiffins and so give the mistress of the house a little rest from thinking out the usual tiffin.

Ingredients For Two.

2½ to 3 lb. best Corned Beef
Silver-side.

2 or 3 carrots and turnips.
A little suet paste for dumplings.

Method.

Be sure you have a nice joint of tender grained meat with very little fat on it. The joint is put into cold water and carefully brought to the boil, then it must be allowed to simmer only for half to three quarters of an hour, not more. The vegetables must be peeled or scraped and added to the joint to cook in the liquor as soon as it is put on one side of the fire to simmer.

Twenty minutes before serving make four or five suet dumplings with the beef cubes and season with salt and pepper and dress with The meat is served on a hot dish with the carrots, turnips and dumplings arranged all round, and boiled potatoes are served separately. Send in some of the liquor in a sauceboat, the rest reserve for soup stock.

"Beef Salade."

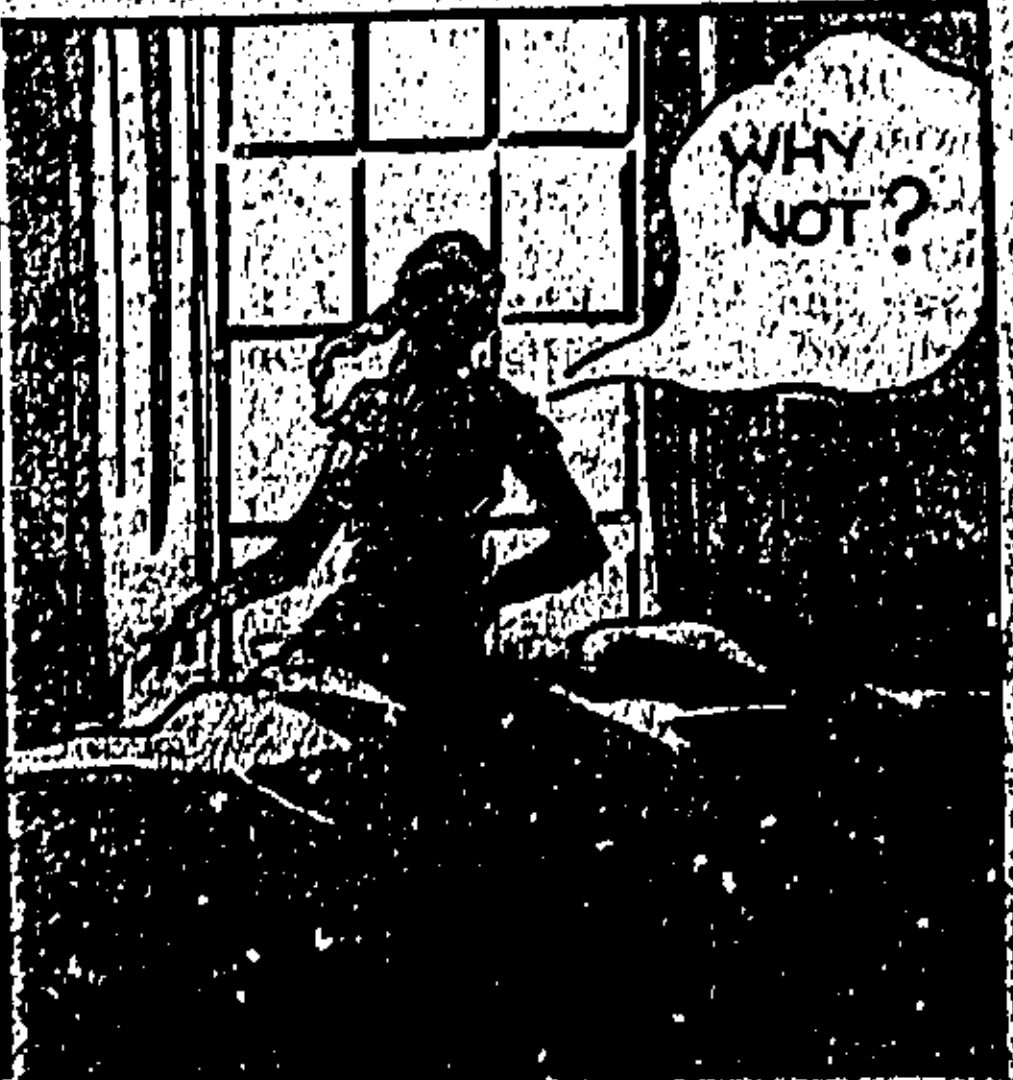

When you have had cold-boiled beef twice for tiffin you will very probably be glad not to see it in that form again so this little recipe may help you to be rid of the remains so that the joint will have been a really economical one inasmuch as every scrap will have been eaten. If you do not wish to use it for tiffin again the following method will be equally useful for making an appetising hors d'oeuvre dish.

Method.

Trim and cut the beef into small cubes, leaving out any fat or gristle. Put the cubes of beef into a salad bowl. For four people you require about two breakfastfuls of beef cubes. Then peel and cut into cubes one apple, two tomatoes, chop three fillets of anchovy and shared half an onion. Mix all this together with the beef cubes and season with salt and pepper and dress with mayonnaise sauce or with a good salad cream such as Heinz's.

LAWN TENNIS LEAGUE TO-DAY

TWELVE MATCHES TO OPEN 1932 SEASON

TWO ENCOUNTERS POSTPONED

CRAIGENGOWER RECEIVE FIRST TEST WITH VISIT OF INDIAN R.C.

CHAMPIONS VISIT KOWLOON

(By Audax.)

Providing the recent rains have not damaged the courts to too great an extent and providing that rain holds off during the afternoon the Hong Kong Lawn Tennis League will to-day open the 1932 season with a programme of twelve matches in the three divisions.

Originally the programme consisted of fourteen matches, but owing to the enforced visit to Canton of Li Wai-choi and his brother Li Woon-choi, the South China Athletic Association "A" side has been able to secure a postponement of their game with the Indian Recreation Club. In the "C" Division the Y.M.C.A. have been seriously handicapped by illness and I understand that their game with the Police Recreation Club, newcomers to this division, has been indefinitely postponed.

At Causeway Bay the Chinese Recreation Club entertain the Hong Kong Cricket Club and should be able to commence the season with 100 per cent. in their effort to break the run of successes enjoyed by the Indian Recreation Club.

The most interesting match on the programme is that which will be played between the Craigengower C.C. and the Indian R.C. at Happy Valley in the "B" Division. Last season the Indians were at sixes and sevens in this division, but this season I understand that they have discovered a system of ranking which will ensure their best possible team for each encounter. Craigengower, as I mentioned yesterday, have a decidedly strong combination this season, and to-day's encounter should prove a fairly useful pointer to Craigengower's chances of lifting the Shield for the first time in the history of that Club. The Indians have won this division championship once—as far back as 1922, since which date the Chinese Recreation Club have held the upper hand.

C. R. C. in the Dark

The holders of the "B" Division Shield are in opposition to the Kowloon Cricket Club at the K.C.C., and a close encounter is promised with the Chinese the more probable winners. They, however, are playing against an unknown quantity in G. W. Greene, who has arrived from Canton and H. Klengelbacker, M. Huber and P. Dunne all of whom are from Shanghai and new to Hong Kong tennis, and may even receive a set-back in their opening match.

Likely Winners

The Racrole, the most likely challengers for the Shield, should find the Civil Service side easy prey and South China should beat the Club. The University, though playing on foreign courts at Soekunpo, should just emerge winners against the Army team, providing L. T. Ride and F. A. Redmond are turning out for them this year.

Filipino Club Debut

There is no outstanding game in the "C" Division with perhaps the exception of the Filipino-Craigengower encounter, as the Filipino Club is making its debut after an absence of two years and should prove quite an unknown quantity. South China, Hong Kong C.C., Racrole, Kowloon C.C., and the Chinese R.C., holders, should be able to garner points in their opening games.

Appended below will be found to-day's programme of matches with last year's results in brackets; the probable teams; and the winners of the three respective championships since their inception:

Overland China Mail.

A WHOLE WEEK'S NEWSPAPERS IN ONE.

More than usual interest was centred on the Epsom Derby by the fact that two local residents succeeded in drawing horses in both the Calcutta and Irish Sweeps.

Miss Clair Couper Munro, a teacher at the Central British School, Kowloon, drew Portofino in the Calcutta Sweep and shares half of the ticket with Mrs. R. A. Rodgers of 513, The Peak.

An interesting interview with Miss Munro is reproduced in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

In the Irish Sweep, the Aga Khan's horse, Dastur, was drawn by the "Sau Sang" Syndicate whose address is given as Handelsbank. This is, of course, the Nederlandsche Indische Handelsbank N.V.

As the result of inquiry made at the Bank it turned out that there was no syndicate and that the holder of the ticket was an individual who was referred to as Mr. Z and his identity was closely guarded.

The OVERLAND CHINA MAIL contains an account of the endeavour made to trace the lucky ticket holder.

Sentences of death were passed by the Puisne Judge (Mr. Justice J. R. Wood) at the Assize, on May 30, on Cheung Tze-san and Cheung Sau-fu, two of three men who were found guilty, on May 14, of murder of a young student named Tsang Tai-kei, on February 18.

The two men's fate was sealed at the Full Court, presided over by the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph H. Kemp, K.C.), when after hearing argument by Mr. Somerset Fitzroy that there was not sufficient evidence to go to the Jury, the Court decided that the convictions must stand. The third man, Cheung Man, was sentenced to death on May 14, immediately after the Jury had returned their verdict.

A full report of the scene at the sentencing of the remaining two men is carried in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

A distressing life-boat accident occurred in Kowloon Bay on the night of May 27. The boat, which contained 30 coolies, had got alongside the s.s. Ben Lomond, which is being scrapped in the Bay, when the accident occurred.

The coolies scrambled to reach the gangway of the ship and this caused the boat to capsize, throwing all 30 men into the water. Three were drowned.

The story of the accident and the subsequent finding of the three bodies is contained in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

On May 30 the Chief Justice gave judgment in the long drawn out family dispute which was heard during the month of March. In this case three brothers sued a fourth brother asking for a declaration that they were partners in certain businesses of which the defendant claimed that he was the sole proprietor.

Judgment was given to the defendant with no relief for the three plaintiffs.

Battle of Giants at Brooklands

Lap After Lap at 130 m.p.h.

George Eyston Successfully Registers Unexpected Protest

Two giant cars, magnificently driven, provided a large crowd at Brooklands with the most sensational duel ever fought out on that track in the twenty-five years of its existence. In the 100 miles final for the British Empire Trophy John Cobb's Delage beat George Eyston's Panhard by one-fifth of a second, less than the length of a cricket pitch.

Cobb's average speed was 126.36 miles an hour, only five miles per hour less than the world's record for the 100 miles.

After the finish Eyston lodged a protest, on the ground that Cobb had balked him. After two and a half hours' deliberation the stewards awarded the race to Eyston, with Cobb second. Earl Howe (Delage) was third.

From the preliminary heats of fifty miles each eight cars had qualified for the final, but the two smallest were withdrawn to leave a clearer field for the expected desperate battle between the "big stuff."

Cobb, whose 10-litre Delage has colossal acceleration, was first away, but soon Birkin was leading, with Eyston second about 300 yards behind. For thirty miles this order was maintained. Then Eyston began to creep up.

It looked like a tremendous finish between them, but exactly half-way, on the eighteenth lap, Eyston was suddenly leading and Birkin limping in to his pit. A blown gasket had ended the race for him.

Cobb's Opportunity.
Eyston, well ahead of Cobb, now ventured to slow down a little from the terrific pace he had been maintaining. In practice his Panhard had shown a tendency to destroy its tyres, and he was nervous that they might not last the 100 miles. The manoeuvre was fatal. Cobb seized his chance, put his foot right down, and, with his veteran Delage flat out, flashed past Eyston into the lead.

YACHTSMEN TO SAIL TO JAPAN

Shanghai Trio Attempt Last Year's Feat.

HAZARDOUS START TO-DAY

The call of the sea has once again drawn several Shanghai yachtsmen to venture forth on the blue water and the Chelidon, owned by H. Aust, will repeat her cruise of last year, sailing across to Japan with an amateur crew.

Two yachts made the adventurous trip last year, across the China sea, reaching their destination Nagasaki, after an interesting trip. The progress of the yachtsmen was followed with the greatest interest last year, and messages were received from passing ships as to the varying positions of the craft. This year, however, only one boat will make the trip but there will be no lack of interest. Accompanying H. Aust, will be W. D. Neil, skipper of the Viking, and J. Milligan, who also sails this yacht. These two keen yachtsmen were among the few that went across last year.

The Chelidon is expected to leave Shanghai to-day, and should the weather hold fair, the outward journey should not take more than four or five days. The yachtsmen will remain in Nagasaki for a few days and expect to arrive back in Shanghai within two weeks.

The amateur crew proved its proficiency at navigation last year when both vessels were able to plot a direct course to Nagasaki, while their return trip was made with equal good judgment. With their past experience to serve them, they should have no difficulty in reaching their destination. The weather at this time of the year is generally fair, though the threat of typhoons may cause the abandonment of the project.

Last year the amateurs had good weather, though fog and a slight gale of wind were met with during the trip. The voyage across was a wonderful experience, and their reception at Nagasaki was equally good. The city turned out in force to welcome them. Boats were out in the Harbour when they arrived and escorted them to their anchorage. They were also feted by a number of institutions in the city.

Preparations have gone forward and the yacht is now thoroughly overhauled, and looking a trim vessel. She will be well stored for the trip in the events of a lack of wind.

ARMY OFFICERS BARRED FROM LONDON POLO

Harmful Effect on the Game.

Polo, in common with other games, is hard hit by the prevailing depression. Studs and staffs are being reduced; the polo pony market is depressed; retirements from the game have increased, and recruiting to it has been checked. Moreover, the number of visiting players has been reduced to a minimum.

Mr. Sanford and his magnificent string of ponies will be greatly missed, and the strong contingent of American, Spanish, and Argentine players, who since the war have strengthened the game in London so much, will this year be represented by two individuals, the Marquis of Villabragima and the Marquis of Portago. Nevertheless, prospects are decidedly better than they were a month ago. Polo executives have done what they could to meet existing conditions by reducing stable and forage charges to a minimum, by cutting down the length of Open games from seven periods to six, and by lowering the qualification for certain of the lesser tournaments. They have succeeded in obtaining a list of entries which is very fairly representative of English polo, and

FRENCH LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Men's Singles—Quarter Finals.
De Stefani (Italy) beat H. G. N. Lee (Britain) 6-3, 9-7, 6-2.
Menzel (Czechoslovakia) beat F. J. Perry (Britain) 2-6, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5.
H. Cochet (France) beat G. Mangin (U.S.A.) 6-2, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3.

Women's Singles—Semi-final.
Mme. Mathieu (France) beat Miss Betty Nuthall (Britain) 6-2, 6-4.—Reuter.

which is a decidedly stronger one than recently seemed probable. This is to their credit.

An Unexpected Blow.
Their efforts would have been more successful had they not encountered a blow from a quarter from which it was least to be expected. The Army Council recently issued an order to the effect that no officer serving with his regiment was to take any part in London polo.

The effect of this order on the game can be realised at once. The Army has been, and always must be, the backbone of English polo. If the soldier element is to be lost, Britain will lose all chance of regaining her former position in the game which since the war she has lost to America and the Argentine. This order, if it stands, will deprive her of any hope of successors to Cheape, Lockett, Barrett, Melville, and Tomkinson. These, and all our other renowned soldier players, were developed from post-war sides, have attained the standard by regular play in the best company, and could have been so developed in no other way.

To take two more recent instances, Mr. H. P. Guinness could not have made the great advance which he did make last year had he been restricted to regimental polo played on bad grounds, nor could the 17th-21st Lancers post-war sides, have attained the standard which they did attain had they been barred from constant practice with London sides.

The Financial Aspect.
Again, the most competent and most deserving soldier player is he who devotes all his spare time to bringing himself and his ponies to the highest pitch of perfection. Few players can afford to do so unless they have the opportunity of selling a pony now and then to the best advantage, and so making the game contribute in part to its necessarily heavy expenses. Purchasers of first-class ponies naturally demand ponies which have been tried out in the best company, and if soldier players are to be barred from the best company the market of the purchaser will be restricted to Messrs. Soapy Sponges and Dandies Nevins, much to the disadvantage of the game.

Fortunately for London polo, it has been found possible to modify the order in practice, and Mr. Guinness and Capt. G. H. Ranshaw will, again, be in action. What is really wanted is that the Army Council's general order should be modified so that the soldier player should be permitted to take part in the London polo which he has attained in the post-war sides.

FOOTBALL IN BARE FEET

African Negroes Take to Soccer.

FOR INDIVIDUAL GLORY

The negroes of the African forests have laid down their spears, given up cannibalism, and are going into training for football, which seems likely to take the place of head-hunting as the national sport.

In a recent tournament for the "Soccer" championship of French Equatorial Africa, the footless natives of Douala (Cameroons) won an easy victory.

The African players scorn boots as an unnecessary and slightly feminine encumbrance. Some of them can be persuaded to put on stockings, but that's all.

The game was introduced into the French Colonies by French officials, who have several football teams, composed of doctors working for the Government in the eradication of fever, Government administrators and planters. German and British officials in Africa have also taken part in encouraging the natives to play.

Too Excited.
It was quite common during the Cameroons championship for 2,000 natives to gather round the playing field. Often the crowd became too excited, and started setting differences regarding the merits of the respective sides by battle.

The Sports-Star club of white French players won the Colonists' championship of French West Africa, and then played the Douala footless eleven, winning by one goal.

The negroes showed remarkable speed and endurance, but little team work. Individual glory is the chief attraction of the game for them.

LADY GOLFER DEAD

Mrs. John Gibb, who as Miss Maud Titterton won the British ladies' golf championship at St. Andrews in 1908 by beating Miss D. Campbell at the nineteenth hole in the final, has died in an Edinburgh nursing home. She lived in South Africa for years and was champion of that country in 1913 and 1914.

MERRITT 78 OUT OF 113.

W. E. Merritt the New Zealand cricketer, has soon found his feet in the Lancashire League. Playing for Rishton he scored 78 of his side's total of 113 for nine against Haslingden. On a very poor wicket.

British-French Rugby Split

CONFLICTING REPORTS OF PROGRESS MADE

No Agreement Yet.

Paris, May 19.

British and French Rugby teams may play each other again next season as the result of the agreement reached at the meeting in Bordeaux attended by representatives of the French Rugby Federation and the 12 dissident clubs.

The agreement, reached unanimously after a long discussion, provides for unity of direction, elimination of disguised professionalism—to which the British Unions objected—and cleaner play.

The new agreement assures the dissident clubs of adequate representation on the Council of the Federation and the various committees that regulate the game in France.

A new scheme for the regional championship, in the 1932-33 season will be worked out in such a way as to ensure that the clubs participating shall receive no financial advantage.

It is believed that the new scheme worked out by the Bordeaux meeting will meet with the approval of the British Unions.

London, May 21.
Although it was recently announced that relations between the French and British rugby bodies would presently be resumed, such a report is actually without foundation.

It was learned here to-day that the British Rugby Union and the French Rugby Federation have not actually reached any agreement.

English Amateur Golf Championship

Bradshaw's Slip at Last Hole

Eric Fiddian Wins Title Amid Greatest Enthusiasm

Eric Fiddian, of Stourbridge, aged 22, is the new English champion five years after he made himself boy champion of Great Britain. In a great final he defeated A. Stewart Bradshaw, who captained Oxford University in 1929, by one hole over 36 holes on the Royal St. George's links, at Sandwich.

It was a great match, and the marvel was that two men of such short experience.—Bradshaw is only 24—were able to stand the strain. It was thrust and parry all the way, with Fiddian more often down, but not very much down, for there was never more than two holes between them during the match. But he had the load of a deficit to carry, and he shouldered his burden as though it mattered nothing.

The first round of the final, played in glorious sunshine, ended with Bradshaw leading by a hole. Fiddian started shakily, and was two down with five played, and because he putted indifferently after squaring the match at the seventh, was two down again at the thirteenth. The fourteenth and fifteenth are long holes, and Fiddian's advantage in the long shots, which he held throughout the match, enabled him to win them, and he took the short sixteenth for the lead. Fiddian went for the hole with a five-yard putt at the seventeenth, laid himself a stymie, and lost his lead. Bradshaw, with an excellent approach to the last hole, won it, to be one up at lunch time with a score of 77 against 76.

Loser's Slight Advantage.
Bradshaw had a slight advantage in the short game during the morning round, when the conditions were perfect, but in the strong wind in the afternoon Fiddian became the attacker.

A great iron shot to the first green, a beautiful chip to the second, and Fiddian was one up.

RACER'S CAREER ENDED
Gloaming, the New Zealand racehorse, has died at Christchurch at the age of sixteen. He won £43,100 in stake money. In a long career he was only once out of the first two. Out of 67 races he won 57 and was nine times second.

LORD BURGHLEY MAY LEAVE TRACK.

Famous British Hurdler Lacks "Fire."

Lord Burghley, the Olympic high and low hurdles champion, and one of the fastest men in these events ever to represent Britain, may make this present his last season according to word from London.

Nor is it even certain that the famous running peer will be one of Britain's team to visit Los Angeles this year. There is more than a suspicion that he may have difficulty in overcoming home favourites. Burghley is in form, but he has lacked the fire of former years in his various trials, it seems.

Athletics, as a whole, have been a matter of concern for his lordship's legs. Many curious and worried gentlemen have approached him, saying:

"Are you quite fit, old man? Are you in top form?" They have been more than dubious.

But Lord Burghley, though he had only smiled a little originally and reassured them, now chiding:

"I am fit enough to win races at Los Angeles, I think. He denies that he is 'thriving' but admits this season may be last, so far as Olympic events are concerned."

The Birthday Honours.

This year's King's Birthday Honours List is a lengthy one and the awards cover a wide field. The increasing importance of the Empire is reflected in the large number of honours bestowed on officials and citizens in the Dominions and Colonies. A considerable number of honours has been conferred on members of the Indian Services and on prominent Indians, while the Dominions, particularly Australia, have been accorded generous recognition. The number of titles conferred is large, comprising six peerages, six Baronetcies and 28 Knighthoods. The list contains few surprises, and no outstanding political figure, as for instance, members of the British Cabinet, Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Winston Churchill, or any of the Dominion Premiers or ex-Premiers, has sought recognition in this manner. Most of these personages, notably, Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Churchill have, of course, declined honours previously. One of the best-known recipients is Lord Buckmaster, the former Lord Chancellor, who is elevated to a Viscountcy. Of the six new Peers Mr. Henry Neville Gladstone, is perhaps best known owing to the fame of his father, the late Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone. The son has not entered the political arena to any great extent, his major activities occurring when he was secretary to the Victorian Premier. He is prominent in business circles, being a director of the P. and O. Another member of an illustrious family who has been appointed to the Peerage is Major-General Walter Scott, a great-grandson of the late Sir Walter Scott. Of interest to China is the Knighthood accorded Mr. John Fitzgerald Brennan, R.M., Consul-General in Shanghai since 1929. Mr. Brennan has been very popular in the northern port, where he has made his mark as a skilful and promising diplomat. During the Shanghai incident he enhanced his reputation, was universally recognised and his services were acknowledged in Mr. Brennan and Sir Miles Lampson Great Britain was represented by two men of marked ability and tact. His honour is well-merited, and it is probable that Sir Miles will be accorded recognition for his valuable services when he arrives Home. Another British official who acquitted himself with credit at Shanghai, Brigadier George Fleming, Commandant of the British troops in the Shanghai area, has been rewarded with a C.B.E. Two Hong Kong residents Mr. G. A. Walker, I.S.O., and Miss H. F. Skinner, O.B.E., have received recognition for public services. One of the most interesting awards is that of a Knighthood to the intrepid Australian airman, C. Kingsford-Smith. That this honour is a belated one, admits of little question and the honour will be popularly received in Australia. Kingsford-Smith, who has claims to being the world's greatest pilot second to none, has by his many and record flights. Many aviators, speed racers, and other champions in the sporting sphere have received recognition for accomplishments which were less notable than those of the pilot of the Southern Cross. It is strongly suspected that the award was withheld from the Australian owing to his matrimonial troubles, as the divorce secured by his first wife lost him some prestige. In official circles at least. Since then Kingsford-Smith has done much to develop aviation in Australia and his recognition now is well deserved. Members of the Royal Family were included in the list, both the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York being promoted in the Royal Air Force, and the Auxiliary Air Force. The Duke of York has always been an officer in the R.A.F., while the Prince has given tremendous stimulus to British aviation by his enthusiastic example in flying on every possible occasion when travelling.

Kowloon Golf Club's New Pavilion

H.E. The G.O.C. To Perform
Opening Ceremony To-day

BUILDING ERECTED ON OLD SITE

The new pavilion of the Kowloon Golf Club at Kowloon City will be formally opened by His Excellency, Major-General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., this afternoon.

The opening of this spacious club house, marks yet another stride in the progress of the Club, and is likely to result in an increase in the popularity of the "grand old game."

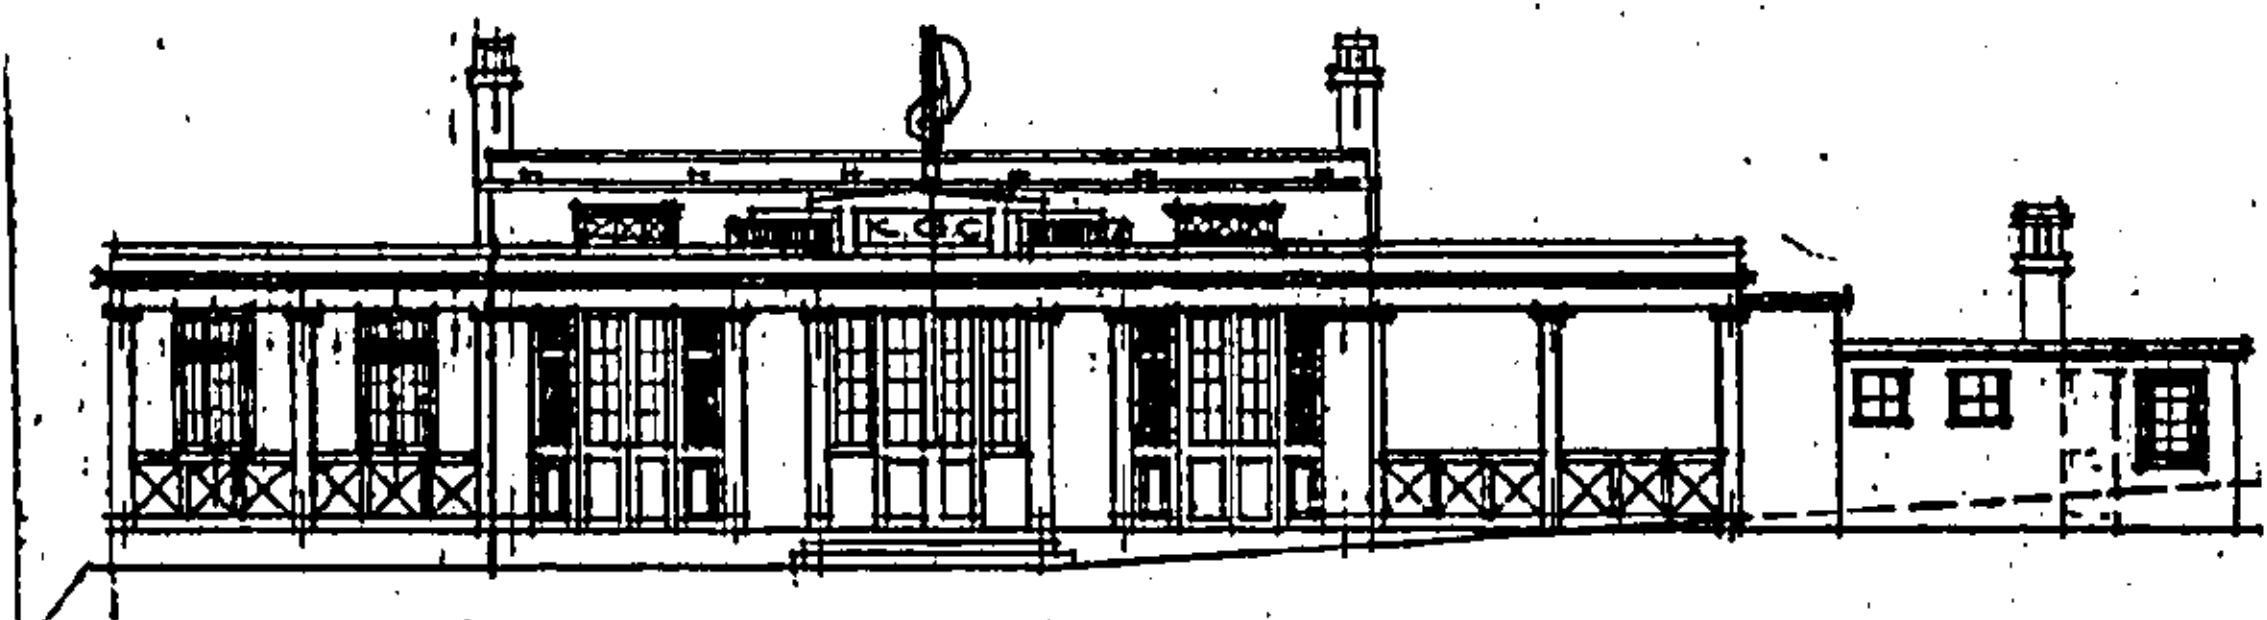

Built to the design of Messrs. Raven and Basto, the pavilion is a single storeyed structure, erected with a view of resisting the elements. It has a spacious lounge and airy verandah, while the changing-room and the locker-room provide a long-felt requirement, and will be of great asset to members.

Built on Old Site
The new building has been erected on the old site and embodies the old Army shelter, which has been used as a locker-room since the founding of the Club.

Electric fans and other up-to-date equipment have been installed, and the inclusion of a ladies' room will be greatly appreciated by the weaker sex.

It is appropriate that Major-General Sandilands should be asked to perform the opening ceremony, as the Club owes much to the consideration shown by the military authorities in limiting the hours of firing on the ranges around which the course is laid out.

The Ceremony
At the ceremony Major-General Sandilands will be accompanied by his A.D.C., Capt. D.R.M. Cameron and will be met on arrival by the Reception Committee consisting of Mr. J. H. Hunt, O.B.E., Mr. J. D. Thompson, Mr. A. T. Braley and Mr. E. R. Price.

The new Kowloon Golf Club pavilion, which is to be opened to-day by H.E. Major-General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O. The Club House was designed by Messrs. Raven & Basto.

PEAK TRAMWAYS MEETING

Satisfactory Year
Reported.

INCREASE IN DIVIDENDS

The most satisfactory Statement of Accounts for some years was presented at the Annual Ordinary Meeting of the Peak Tramways Company Ltd., held this morning, enabling an increase of 2 per cent. in dividends to be recommended.

The net profit for the year ending April 30 after the deduction of Directors' fees, General Managers' remuneration and making provision for depreciation, amounted to $59,702.51. A dividend of 10 per cent. on 75,000 shares, was recommended.

Mr. M. H. Turner and the Hon. Mr. C. Gordon Mackie resigned from the Board during the year, owing to their leaving the Colony, and Messrs. J. Scott Harston and L. J. Davies were invited to fill the vacancies.

The Chairman, Mr. Henry Humphreys said:—
"Your Directors and General Managers are pleased to come before you with the most satisfactory Statement of Accounts that they have been able to present to you for several years past, enabling us to recommend an increase in dividend of 2 per cent. This has been made possible by increases in Traffic Receipts and Rents of $8,959.98 and $3,920.03 respectively and a reduction in expenditure of $7,017.14.

The increase in the Rent Account being due to the leasing of the advertising rights on Cars and Stations.

There has been no capital expenditure on construction or reconstruction during the period under review. Maintenance and Repairs Account however is $2,599.84 more than last year, this is chiefly due counted for by our ropes costing more owing to the low rate of the dollar."

A new item in the Report is the proposed allocation of $4,000 for Passages and Leave Pay. This has been put forward at the instance of our Auditors who said they did not consider it right that the whole burden of leave pay and passages should fall on one year only. In future we shall debit Salaries and Wages in Profit and Loss Account and credit Leave Pay and Passages Account with $3,000 annually."

Mr. Henry Humphreys was in the Chair, being supported by Messrs J. Scott Harston, A. R. Stewart, L. J. Davies (Directors) and Mr. J. L. Quie (Secretary).

Shareholders present were:—Messrs D. Wilson, J. A. Tarrant, D. E. Clark, P. C. Potts, and J. D. Humphreys.

The adoption of the report and accounts was seconded by Mr. Peter Potts, and carried unanimously.

On the proposal of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. J. A. Tarrant, Sir Robert Ho Tung, Sir Elly Kadoorie, Mr. A. B. Stewart, Mr. J. Scott Harston and Mr. L. J. Davies were elected Directors.

Messrs Lowe, Bingham and Matthews, and Messrs Linstead and Davis were re-elected auditors, on the proposal of Mr. D. Wilson, seconded by Mr. J. D. Humphreys.

Personal Pars.
Mr. Geoffrey Robley Sayer resumed duty as Head of the Sanitary Department, on May 27, 1932.

THE WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

The Attitude of France and America.

TO DISCUSS SILVER PROBLEM

Washington, Yesterday.
The silver problem will be given prominence on the American agenda proposed for the International Economic Conference, following a deputation by Congress to President Hoover.

Mr. Andrew Somers, Chairman of the House of Representatives Coinage Committee, said there could be no stabilisation of commodity prices without the stabilisation of silver.—Reuter's American Service.

Paris, Yesterday.
France is anxious that the World Economic Conference, if held at all, should be held soon. The British suggestion for the conference has been sympathetically received in authoritative quarters.

It is the opinion in France that that conference should be held under the auspices of the League of Nations, the Committee of which possess statistics likely to prove very valuable to the delegates.

It is also feared that the delay which would be involved in postponing the conference until after the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa might be dangerous.—Reuter.

MAJESTIC THEATRE

Japan's Policy In Manchuria

Viscount Saito Denies Ulterior Motive

TO ASSIST MANCHUKUO

PRAISE FOR SIR MILES LAMPSON'S
PEACE EFFORTS.

In his first address to the 62nd Session of the Japanese Diet, Viscount Saito, Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs in the new Japanese Cabinet, reviewed the situation in Shanghai and Manchuria. He denied that Japan had any ulterior motive behind her actions in either sphere.

The full text of Viscount Saito's speech is as follows:—

"I have the privilege of reviewing on this occasion the latest developments in the Foreign Relations of this country. We are gratified to watch the rapid restoration of peaceful conditions within Shanghai area following the conclusion on May 5 of the Sino-Japanese agreement for the cessation of hostilities."

"I may say in the course of the negotiations leading up to this agreement we encountered not a few difficulties and the earnest labours of the British Minister to China and the representatives of other friendly Powers on the spot, as well as our own attitude of fairness and rectitude, largely contributed to the final happy outcome."

"I desire to avail myself of this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to the officers and men of our Army and Navy who fought in Shanghai area and rendered signal service to our Fatherland. I also desire to express my profound sympathy with the victims of the bombing incident of April 29 and particularly my infinite grief at the death of General Shirakawa, Commander-in-chief of the expeditionary force."

The Shanghai Agreement.

"According to the terms of the agreement the Chinese troops are to remain at a prescribed distance from Shanghai and the Chinese forces are to cease as far as it lies within their power all hostile action in Shanghai and its vicinity. Should the action of the Chinese Army give occasion for apprehension the representatives of the four Powers, Great Britain, the U.S.A., France, and Italy are to ascertain the situation. As long as these terms of the agreement are observed there is little likelihood, for the present at least, that any fresh disturbances will be caused by the Chinese soldiers in the Shanghai district. In these circumstances it has been decided to call home the whole of our military forces relying, as stated in the declaration by the Ministry of War, published on May 11, upon the operation of the agreement and upon such action as the friendly Powers shall take in order to insure a permanent peace at Shanghai."

Denies Ulterior Motive.
"I am sure that the complete withdrawal of our troops will demonstrate, as nothing else could, the truth of the repeated declarations of our Government as to the absence of any political design in our recent expeditions."

"However it is only the terms for ending hostilities between the Chinese and Japanese forces that have so far been arranged. Permanent Peace Essential.

"No measures have yet been taken to establish a permanent peace in the Shanghai district. It is absolutely necessary to take further steps in order to establish such conditions as will enable both Chinese and Foreigners in Shanghai to live in safety and to pursue their business in peace. If the prosperity of this great international metropolis built up by their peaceful labours for many decades is to be maintained, indeed if that city could be freed from the influence of such sporadic disturbances of various kinds as have occurred time and again in the past, it would prove a boon to the whole of the East."

Steady Project in Manchuria.

"I cannot, therefore, but eagerly look forward to the early opening and complete success of the Round Table Conference which is desired by the Japanese Government and which was contemplated in the resolution of the Council of the League of Nations, adopted with the concurrence of China on February 29."

"In Manchuria we note that the new State is making steady progress with fresh zeal and resolute."

"I am well aware of the great interest which is naturally manifested by our people in the future of Manchukuo and I believe it is no longer possible to ignore the existence of that state in any international re-adjustments which may be made with reference to the Manchurian incident. I believe that it is of the utmost importance for the tranquillity of the Far East as well as for restoration of peace and prosperity in Manchuria that the new State should attain a healthy growth. Only the new Government has not yet reached the stage at which it can command sufficient resources for the restoration of order while the activities of the soldier bandits and other lawless elements, often instigated from outside, are extremely difficult to suppress. Consequently our troops in Manchuria are compelled to extend their necessary co-operation to the protective functions of the new Government and to guard against any eventualities that might endanger the lives and property of our countrymen or to eventuate in any general disturbances on major scale."

"Our profound thanks are due to the Military and Police forces serving in Manchuria in the face of constant danger day and night at the risk of their lives."

Control of Lawless Elements.
"Precedents can easily be drawn from the history of other countries to show that the political changes, such as have taken place in Manchuria, are bound to be accompanied by activities on the part of malcontents and lawless elements. Even where no external instigation comes into play it takes some time in such cases before the Governmental machinery of a new State can be fully set in order."

"I am strongly opposed to any impatient and impetuous attitude in the progress of events in Manchuria. It is essential to give it time and to address oneself to the affecting of a sure solution of the problems, with which we are confronted."

"I sincerely hope that the Commissioners will form a correct and fair conception of the actual conditions in China and Manchuria. The outstanding issue beside the Sino-Japanese affairs in our foreign relation today is the matter of international, political and economic readjustment. The Disarmament Conference which has been in session since last February is largely concerned with this problem."

FORMER CHIEF WARDER HONOURED

King Confers Imperial Service Medal.

MR. JAMES MCLEOD

Left Colony on Retirement November 7.

It is notified in the Government Gazette that His Majesty the King has been pleased to award the Imperial Service Medal to Mr. James McLeod, lately Chief Warder, Victoria Jail, Hong Kong.

Mr. McLeod, who was a keen Freemason and was closely identified with many lodges and other bodies in the Colony, left for Home on retirement by the P. and O. liner Naldera on November 7 last.

During his 30 years in Hong Kong, Mr. McLeod had been prominent in Scottish and Masonic circles and had held many important posts. The many friends he and Mrs. McLeod had made are certain to miss their helpful assistance. Mr. and Mrs. McLeod now reside in Glasgow.

Mr. McLeod spent his life in prison service, having entered the Scottish service as a young man on May 10, 1896. His first post was at H. M. General Prison, Barlinnie, Glasgow, but he was later transferred to Dundee, where he remained until he decided to leave for Hong Kong.

With Mrs. McLeod, he arrived in the Colony on May 10, 1901 and took up his duties as principal warder. In 1909 he was acting chief warder for 12 months, and also acted in that capacity in 1921 and 1922. His appointment to Assistant Chief Warder was made in 1925, while he was promoted to his present position in 1927.

Mr. McLeod took a deep interest in Masonic affairs soon after his arrival. He was District Grand Master Substitute of the Scottish Freemasons in Hong Kong and South China. And also a Past Master of the Naval and Military Lodge, No. 848, Scottish Constitution; P. Z. Naval and Military Royal Arch Chapel, No. 302, South China, and P.M.W.S. of the Rosecroix Phoenix Chapter, No. 18, South China. He was elected Hon. Grand First Sojourner of the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter, Edinburgh, and also a member of the Royal Order of Scotland. For 22 years he was treasurer of the Naval and Military chapter in Hong Kong and acted in a similar capacity for the Naval and Military Chapter, No. 302, Hong Kong, for 23 years.

Taking a keen interest in all kinds of sport, Mr. McLeod was a prominent member of the Civil Service and Police Club's bowling sections, and was also on the football and swimming committees of the Police Recreation Club.

On October 22, Mr. McLeod was entertained by the Scottish Freemasons of Hong Kong, and presented with a marble time-piece, and a gold watch and chain, while Mrs. McLeod was given a gold wristlet watch and was presented by the ladies of the Prison staff with a handsome pair of silver vases.

THE LAUSANNE CONFERENCE

Italy Favours Complete Cancellation.

Rome, Yesterday. "At Lausanne, Italy will urge the final solution of reparations and inter-Governmental debts by cancellation, which is the first essential for overcoming the world crisis," declared Signor Grandi, in a speech to the Senate to-day. He added that the problems facing the world required the immediate decisions of the nation, unable to wait for the ordinary procedure of diplomacy. Italy was prepared to disarm even to serve limits if others did likewise. The disarmament and reparations problems were technically and morally connected.

The French proposals for putting armed forces and disarmament under the League of Nations were unacceptable. Italy proposed the complete abolition of weapons of offence such as capital ships, submarines and bombing planes, and that the League should always be ready to re-

IRISH FREE STATE AT OTTAWA

Mr. Thomas Talks with the Dominions.

London, Yesterday.

The Dominions Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas, speaking in the House of Commons to-day said that discussions preliminary to the Ottawa Conference had been taking place with Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Newfoundland and Southern Rhodesia and also with India but not with the Irish Free State.

In further answers he explained that this was because, at the present moment, the Irish Free State Government refused an agreement entered into by representatives of the Free State and of the United Kingdom. "We feel no good purpose could be served by entering into further negotiations with people until they show they are ready to observe the agreement." He said that the Irish Free State would attend the Ottawa Conference at the invitation of the Canadian Government. He did not know what would happen there so far as the Free State was concerned, but the British Government could not assume that the Treaty would receive any more sanctity at Ottawa than in London. — British Wireless Service.

COAL RESTRICTIONS PROBLEM

German Proposal Under Consideration.

EFFECT OF FRENCH QUOTA

London, Yesterday.

Replying to Parliamentary questions regarding the local restrictions, Mr. D. G. Colville, Secretary of the Overseas Trade Commission said that a reply had been received from the German Government to the representations made respecting the discrimination against Britain in their quota restrictions, and they could not be considered satisfactory.

Representations were also made to the French Government, regarding the effect of their quota and licensing system on British coal, and the question of improving the distribution of licences was now being considered by both the French and the British Government. — British Wireless Service.

THANKS TO A WORM

How Plans of Underground Originated

The shipworm, Teredo Navalis, who has many rotted piers and ships to his discredit, was boring into a pile at Chatham docks in 1812 when the eye of Marc Isambard Brunel, an engineer, fell on him. The worm continued to burrow, its shell of a head, scored with parallel rows of filelike teeth, pushing steadily into the timber, while the sawdust passed through its body.

As it went it lined the tunnel behind with a white shell-like secretion, largely carbonate of lime, and the secretion formed in rings or ribs. Here was the solution at last to tunnelling through the London clay, when all previous attempts had failed. Brunel patented the shipworm's method, and a few years later began the Thames Tunnel from Rotherhithe to Wapping with the first boring shield.

The tunnel is now part of the East London Railway, and improved models of the shield, known as the Greathead Shield, are in use all over the world, and were the only method found practicable when the Underground railways were constructed.

U-BOAT COMMANDER

Retiring From N.D.L. On Reaching Age Limit.

Berlin, May 18.
The commander of the famous submarine "Deutschland," Paul Koenig, who was well known during the war, is retiring from the Norddeutscher Lloyd Company now that he has reached the age of 65. He has built himself a little house near Bremen where he will live with his sisters.

IMPORTANT MOTOR SHIP-BUILDING ORDERS

It is recorded in The Motor Ship that last month orders were placed for four 16 to 17-knot 9,000 to 10,000-ton cargo liners, a passenger ship, a train ferry with 4,000 h.p. machinery, a ferry to carry 1,200 passengers, an ice-breaker and a number of smaller vessels, all to be equipped with oil engines. There were no orders announced for any steamers, large or small, apart from a 1,000-ton collier and a dredge. Although it would be too much to state that these contracts indicate a revival in shipbuilding, they at least show that prospects are now more satisfactory than they have been for the past year, and that the motor ship will probably be adopted in the future even more than it has been in the past. It is to be regretted that none of the orders were placed with British shipyards, nor by British shipowners, although some inquiries for new tonnage are now circulating in Britain.

WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND
"Just to be Free"
"Of course I killed him. This is the modern spirit. I want to be free."
This startling declaration is alleged to have been made by a pretty young wife from a village near Banja Luka, Bosnia, when accused of the murder of her husband. Revenge because her husband beat her for "gadding about" too much, was stated to have been her motive.
The young wife was alleged to have waited for her husband in the cowshed, after he had beaten her. When he entered to feed the cows, she struck him with a knife.
He died shortly afterwards in hospital.

WENDY'S LITTLE NEEDLEWOMEN

An Uncommon "Soiled Linen Bag"

Tink has made a jolly present for Wendy, and we think you'd like to copy it for Mother. It is a bag for soiled linen, with an amusing clothes line decoration applied on one side, as you see in the sketch.

You will need a piece of crash, fifteen inches wide and twenty-four inches long; a piece of case-mont cloth in a bright colour, exactly the same size, for the lining; two flat canes, sixteen inches long; two lengths of cotton braid, the same colour as the lining, for the handles of the bag; some odd scraps of bright coloured materials for the applied "clothes" on the line; and some oddments of brown, black, green and red wools. Quite a big order, isn't it?

Work the trimming on the side of the bag before making it up.

The amusing soiled-linen bag, which you can copy as a present for Mother. Dressmaker tells you all about it.

Fold the crash in half, and rule two vertical lines down each side of the top fold, two inches away from the edge, making each line seven inches long. These are for the supports of the "clothes-line." Next draw the clothes-line across the crash from one post to the other. Work the line in black wool stem-stitch; and the supports in brown wool satin-stitch, as shown in Diagram C, making a little satin-stitch knob on top to finish each post.

Now cut out the "clothes" — the picture shows you the different shapes. Tack them in place, as shown in Diagram A, then buttonhole them round firmly, like Diagram B. Work wee black wool clothes-pegs to join them to the line, then do a line of grasses and tiny flowers along the bottom of the decoration; the grasses are just green stroke-stitches, and the flowers are red French knots. See Diagram D.

Sew the edges of the crash to the case-mont cloth in the following way. Roll a quarter of a

MIKE AND THE "ROVING KIDNAPPER"

Mike the monkey sometimes saw aeroplanes flying over the jungle, and he longed to have one.

"I'd get one back on Prim the parrot if I had," thought Mike. "She's always boasting about her wings, and saying how sad it must be only to have legs. My whiskers! Wouldn't she look blue if she saw me flying over the tree tops!"

Then he ambled off to watch Sonny, the little boy who lived on the edge of the jungle. When Sonny came out of his hut, he had something very queer indeed in his hand. Mike nearly fell out of his tree when he saw this queer thing flying in the air like a flat bird with a long tail, and he thought it was a new sort of aeroplane.

"Let the poor thing go," gabbled Mike. "Don't hold it on a string, you nasty, cruel little boy."

Then Sonny's mother called, and, putting a big stone on the string of the kite, Sonny went into the house. Down the tree popped Mike, grabbed the string, bit it through with his strong teeth, and screamed:

"I've got an aeroplane! I can go where I like! I can fly!"

Away went the kite with Mike clinging to the string. But, alas! he couldn't go where he liked. He was horrified to find himself swinging in the air. Over the jungle tree tops he sailed, and all the jungle folk went tearing after him, on the ground and in the trees.

"What's he doing?" screamed Prim. "Must we laugh or cry?"

Fortunately, a tree knocked Mike into the river. As he scrambled out, he saw quantities of jungle folk waiting, all ready to laugh, but luckily he had an idea.

"A dreadful adventure," he murmured. "That thing with a tail was the wild, roving kidnapper, and he nearly got me. Look out!"

Away rushed the jungle folk to warn their children that a horrible new creature had come to their forest!

FRENCH PRUNE SWEETS

Get some large prunes, slit each one down the side and take out the stone. Put an almond, a little marzipan, or some grated coconut into each prune, and press the edges together. Icing sugar and cocoa, mixed to a cream with a very little water or milk, will also make a delicious filling, and pieces of candied peel may be used, too; when all the prunes are filled, place them on a large dish, leaving spaces between them.

Make some icing in the following way. Roll a quarter of a

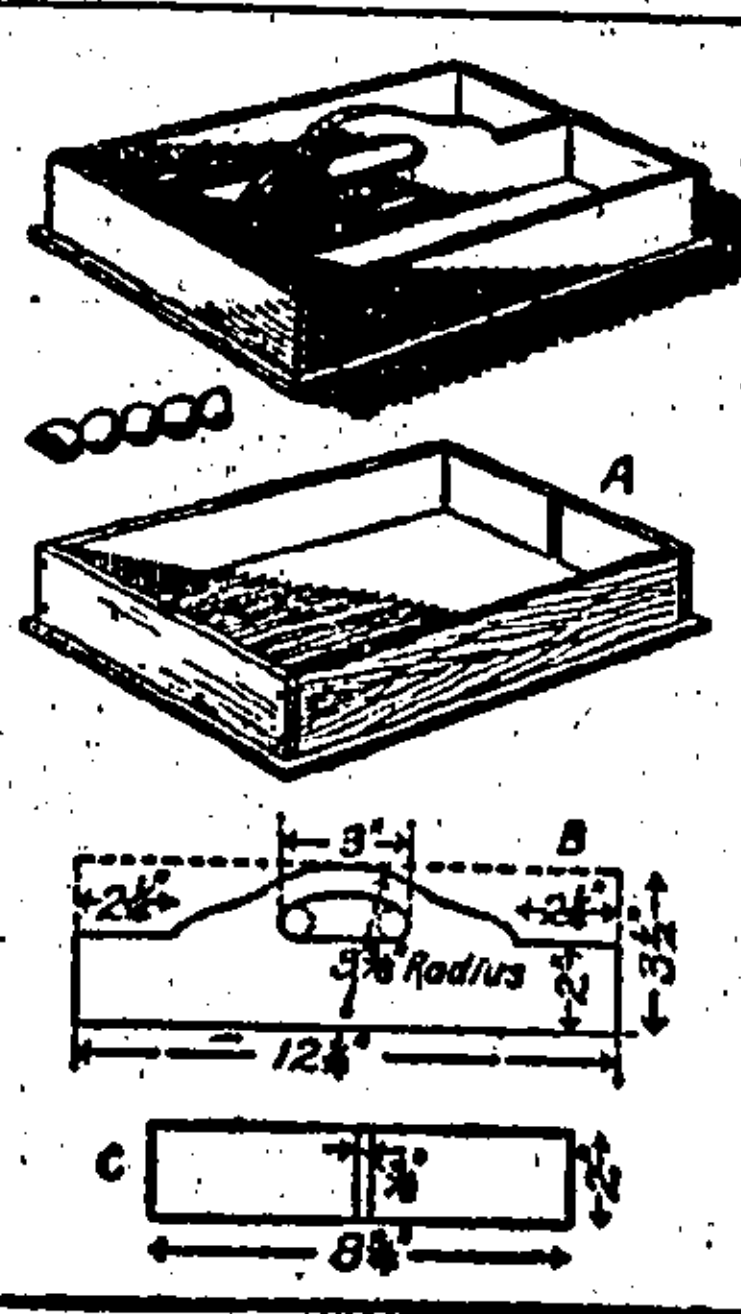

THE BILLY BOY'S WORKSHOP

An Easily Made Knife Box

To make this knife box you will require some three-eighths inch wood for the sides, ends and centre division; and a piece of quarter-inch plywood for the bottom.

The sides are twelve inches long and two inches wide, and the ends are the same width but eight and three-quarter-inches long. Carefully plane these parts on sides and edges, then mark out the centre slot across each end piece, as indicated in diagram C. Saw down these lines to a depth of one-eighth of an inch and chisel out the slots.

For the centre division, saw a piece of wood to the sizes given in diagram B, and, after planing about which Carpenter talks

all over, mark out the curved shape of the top. To form the hand hole, make two holes with a three-quarter-inch centre-bit and cut away the wood between them. Smooth the edges of the hole with glasspaper, then roughly cut the curved top to shape with a pad-saw and chisel. Finish the edge with a rough file and glasspaper.

Fix the sides and ends of the box together as shown in diagram A, coating the joints with glue, and driving fine wire nails or panel pins through the ends into the sides. Take care to see that the top and bottom edges are straight, and that the sides and ends are square.

Cut the plywood for the bottom thirteen inches long and nine inches wide, and well rub the edges with glasspaper. Fix this part in place with nails driven through it into the sides and ends. Glue the ends of the centre division in the slots, and fix it with three countersunk screws driven in through the bottom.

Fancy edging, known as half-round ball beading, can be glued and pinned to the edges of the box, as shown in the first diagram. An enlarged view of a piece of this beading is shown at D. Coat the finished box with varnish stain of any desired colour.

The Hut Carpenter.

Sound of icing sugar till there are no lumps left; use half a pound if there are many prunes to cover. Put the sugar into a basin and mix it to a thick cream with lemon juice, orange juice, or water. Pour this icing carefully over the prunes, and leave to set. When set, take them off the dish with a knife, trim the edges, and put each into a coloured paper case.

ROUND THE CAMP FIRE

(By Patrol Leader.)

WEEKLY CHAT.

An Appeal For News.

It is most surprising to me to find that with close on to 30 troops of Boy Scouts in the Colony news concerning their activities (individually or as a whole) are so scant. I telephoned the Commissioner (the Rev. G. T. Waldegrave) yesterday afternoon, and asked him for news about Scouting activities locally.

His reply was, "I haven't any at the moment." I appeal wholeheartedly to Scouters to contribute to this weekly column in the interests of the world-wide movement. Surely you can do your turn in this line?—Try.

Scouts' Parade.

Yesterday, being the King's Birthday, twenty Scouts drawn from the different troops, assembled at the Cenotaph, under Scoutmaster R. Dormer, of St. Andrew's Troop, Canton Scouts.

A few days ago, a band of about fifty Chinese boys, clad in scout uniform and wearing green coloured cloth glegarries, came to the Colony on a visit from Canton.

I had the pleasure of seeing them march (they kept time well) in Chatham Road. They wore brown shirts, blue shorts, and red and blue neckerchiefs.

They carried staves in a slanting position on their left shoulders, and presented a smart spectacle. The officers, or leaders, had yellow and white cords attached to their right shoulder, going round the armpit and across to the left side of the belt. Four drummers marched in front.

Not Recognised.

In the course of a telephone conversation, the Commissioner said that he was unaware of their visit here adding: "They are not officially recognised, and the local Association has nothing to do with them."

PROFICIENCY BADGES.

The Value of A Badge.

A Scoutmaster has sent me the following concerning proficiency badges: "Except in the case of King's Scout Badges where re-examination is yearly, the majority of boys obtain an efficiency badge, and apart from wearing the badge, which they do (quite naturally) with great pride, the subject of the badge is forgotten, and any question concerning it, which cannot be answered by the owner, is sometimes passed with the remark 'Oh there's no exam. for the badge.'"

A case in point. An examiner for the artist's badge, went to a great amount of trouble on helping a boy, with the result that the badge was obtained. About a year afterwards, he was asked by the examiner as to his progress in drawing and sketching, and replied "I haven't had time to do any."

The examiner must have been (and was) disappointed that his efforts had merely been the means of a boy adorning himself with the badge only. In contrast, there is the case of the boy who obtained the artist's badge, and while still a scout, designed covers for magazines and exhibited at local exhibitions.

While it is true that all cannot be artists, it is equally true that sketching is one of the best hobby's a boy could indulge in; apart from results obtained, it affords good training for the hand and eye; it calls to the open spaces and the beauties of nature, and above all is most useful, as well as inexpensive and fascinating.

To give Badges their real value, one is inclined to suggest that before being awarded the artist's badge, the boy should prove continuous practice for six months prior to the examination, and re-examination yearly.

The badge would then be worn by a scout as a sign of real proficiency, and not because he produced a number of drawings to the satisfaction of the examiner."

I would invite Scouters to send in their views on the subject, also news concerning their respective troops.

SCOUTING OVERSEAS.

A kudu horn presented by the Chief Scout, Lord Baden-Powell to Danish Boy Scouts last month, was carried in relays from the Skaw to Copenhagen, five hundred miles away.

Dublin Boys.

Father, Nolan, O.F.M., recently invested members of the St. Anthony of Padua 61st Dublin troop of Catholic Scouts at the Presbytery.

Gosforth Park Camp.

On Sunday, May 1, the Chief Scout, in the presence of over ten thousand boy scouts and girl guides in Northumberland, opened a new permanent camping site in Gosforth Park. The Chief was presented with a key of the hut by the donor's grandson, who is a wolf cub himself, and was given a rousing welcome, as it was his first visit to Newcastle since 1917.

Founder's Day in New Zealand. The visit of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell to New Zealand last year is to be commemorated by the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides there every year. The suggestion to hold a Founder's Day service every year came from the Dominion Chief Commissioner of the New Zealand Boy Scouts, Colonel P. Clennell Fenwick.

The Dean of Christchurch was approached and on his consenting to the use of the Cathedral, it was decided to hold the Founder's Day Service each year, on the Sunday nearest the date of the Chief Scout's birthday.

At the first Founder's Day service Christchurch Cathedral was packed to the doors, over 1,500 Scouts and Guides attending, representing practically every Scout Troop and Guide Company in the city.

In his address Dean Julius said: "Scouts are carrying out their Chief's high principles and the ideals of their founder. The spirit of unselfishness and self-reliance of the soldier are being emulated by you as boys and girls. It is particularly important in these depressed times that you should continue to live up to your Chief's aims, for the qualities desired of a Scout or a Guide are more than ever necessary in hard times."

GIRL GUIDES.

A New Company.

The local girl guides have added to their rapidly growing numbers with the formation, quite recently, of a guide troop at the St. Mary's School, Kowloon. The guide captain is Mrs. C. Merriman. They are known as the 5th Kowloon Company, and the girls wear pink ties. I wish them every success and good guiding in the future.

Guide Sunday.

Last Sunday was Guide Sunday, and over half-a-million guides throughout the world celebrated the coming-of-age of the movement. The Catholic guides attended Pontifical Mass at the Catholic Cathedral, and afterwards stayed to breakfast with their brother Scouts, the 2nd Hong Kong Catholic troop, whose headquarters was opened that morning.

Other girls attended St. Andrew's Church at the morning service when a warm welcome was extended by the Vicar (the Rev. W. Walton Rogers). The Commissioner for Boy Scouts preached a stirring sermon, prior to which he lauded the guide movement.

Congratulations!

Girl guides, the world over, will rejoice in the honour the King has conferred on Lady Baden-Powell (National Vice-President) who has been awarded the G.B.E. decoration. Rejoicings are local too, for Miss F. E. Skinner, who always takes a keen interest in the movement's welfare, has become an M.B.E. Congratulations!

Guide's Honesty.

The following story, depicting a girl guide's honesty, is from Home:—

Miss Rosina Mary Burton, a 20-year-old Girl Guide, of Valetta Road, Acton, who said she wanted to vindicate her honesty, successfully appealed at Middlesex Sessions on April 12 against a "conviction" at Ealing Police Court, and a fine of £1, with 21s. costs, for travelling on the G.W.R. without having paid her fare.

It was alleged that at Ealing Broadway, Miss Burton tendered half-a-crown for the fare from Hanwell, whereas she had really travelled from Hayes, but Miss Burton said she did not tell the ticket inspector that she wished to pay the fare from Hanwell. She told him she had come from Hayes.

Three ticket inspectors who were conducting a special ticket inspection denied that they mistook Miss Burton saying Hanwell for Hayes.

Sir Montagu Sharpe was reading from the documents signed by the magistrates who heard the case at the police court when he pointed out that these said that Miss Burton had been "summoned" by the court, not "convicted," and therefore there was really nothing to appeal against.

Mr. St. John Hutchinson pointed out that a person was entitled to appeal against any order made at a police court.

Mr. St. John Micklethwait, K.C., for the Railway Co., said the appeal was not allowed only on the point raised. Otherwise he would have asked that a case be stated.

Sir Montagu Sharpe: The appeal is allowed on its merits.

wright who has achieved glory in a few years in the field of letters and of the stage and screen, with such copy as the scenarios of "Sarah and Son" and "Anybody's Woman", and the stage original, "The Greeks Had a Word For It."

The Americans have a word for what the central characters of "Girls About Town" do. It is "gold-digging." Kay Francis and Lilian Tashman play these parts as lusty brunettes and blond dazlers who prey upon the easy spenders who come to the big city for business and pleasure.

Others who contribute to the general interest of this witty-paced and witty production are Allan Dinehart, Robert McWade, Judith Wood, George Barlier, Lucille Browne, Adrienne Ames, Anderson Lawler, Claire Dodd, Patricia Carron and Louise Deavers.

NO LADY.

Those who like a thrill minute, long scenes, and of a most entertaining kind, will find "No Lady" a most interesting production. It is a story of a girl who is kidnapped and held captive in a cave, and who is rescued by a hero who is a member of the same family.

The film starts straightaway with laughs, and once the necessary outlines of the story have been presented to the audience, it moves along at a merry pace, stunts and laughter following hard upon one another's heels.

Another factor for enjoyment is the British settings and atmosphere. The action takes us to Blackpool, and as it is in the well-known spaces at this seaside resort that most of the development takes place we shall find here additionally irresistible angles.

Above all, the picture is a great personal triumph for Lupino Lane, who as both star and director of this production was able to create opportunities which had been previously denied him in British films. With this one film he assumes a leading place, not only among British screen comedians, but among resourceful comedy producers.

A talented cast of players assist Lupino Lane, and although they are necessary adjuncts to Lupino's stunts they nevertheless help keep the fun going.

Don't miss "No Lady." It's a certain evening's good entertainment!

SEASIDE AT LONDON ZOO

The London Zoo is to have a seaside of its own.

In the Tropical Hall, a rocky pool ten feet long and six feet wide is being made. It will be supplied with sea-water from the Zoo reservoir and twice in every twenty-four hours, the tide, controlled by a magnetic valve, will come in, and go out again.

At high tide the water will almost cover the rocks and will be about 12 ins. deep. At low tide, there will only be about two ins. of water in the pool.

In the sand at the bottom of the pool, sea-weeds of all kinds are to be planted, and shrimps, pebbles, sea-anemones, coral, crabs and fish will be seen taking to the water. The sea-anemones supplied by the London Zoo.

M. CLEMENCEAU'S CHILDREN

Sharp Refusal to Attend Statue Unveiling.

Paris, May 24.

Much comment has been aroused by the announcement that the children of the late Premier, M. Clemenceau have refused the invitation of the Paris Municipal Council to participate in the ceremony of unveiling a monument to the dead statesman next Thursday. In a sharply worded letter to the president of the Municipal Council, M. Clemenceau's children declare that they will have nothing to do with the ceremony in connection with an "absurd statue" erected on an obscure unknown square.

Although the family's refusal was expected, as it was known it disapproved the design as well as the site chosen for the monument, the abrupt tone of the letter caused some surprise.

"I will take Sanatogen till my nerves are better"

THOUSANDS of people—as sceptical as you—have discovered that their decision: "I will give Sanatogen a fair trial," has changed their whole life.

Where formerly they felt worn and tired, they now enjoy radiant health and abundant energy. They are really and thoroughly healthy again, able to do a full day's work without feeling any fatigue.

Sanatogen revitalizes the whole cell life of your system and multiplies the number of red blood corpuscles. But its main strength lies in its remarkable influence on the nervous system. That is principally due to the glycerophosphate which is present in Sanatogen in the exact form in which it exists in the nerve cells. It is only from Sanatogen—an intricate chemical combination unique in the whole scientific world—that these delicate nerve-cells can fully absorb the energizing phosphates.

That's why the famous standard work: "The Elements of Pharmacy, Materia Medica and Therapeutics" says:

In neurasthenia and neuralgic conditions, Sanatogen is clearly indicated"

"SECRETS OF A SECRETARY."

A night club without gangsters is the achievement of George Abbott, director of "Secrets of a Secretary" which is showing at the Kfing Theatre to-day.

George Abbott, like most New Yorkers, has been in enough night clubs to know what the average one looks like. There is a sequence in "Secrets of a Secretary," a play about New York society, which calls for an interior of a night club. Abbott ordered a real one constructed on the set at Paramount's New York studio.

The resultant reality of action is to be seen on the screen. The play, which is the only one of its kind, is a comedy of manners, and is a most interesting production. It is a story of a girl who is kidnapped and held captive in a cave, and who is rescued by a hero who is a member of the same family.

The chorus of this place is composed of eight girls—and an additional specialty dancer who doubles in a song. The master of ceremonies is a sane, wise-cracking young fellow who doesn't look like a show-biz type, but who expects a shouting.

"GIRLS ABOUT TOWN"

Comedy-sparkling, scads of it, and drama, romance, pathos are the elements which get a thorough workout in this picture. It's a very cap and very large cast of stage and screen luminaries in "Girls About Town." Paramount's latest production is a most interesting production. It is a story of a girl who is kidnapped and held captive in a cave, and who is rescued by a hero who is a member of the same family.

WATER SITUATION RELIEVED

Storage Increased by 60,000,000 Gallons.

RESULT OF TWO DAYS' RAIN

Shing Mun Gains By 2.25 Inches

The China Mail learns from a reliable source, that the total increase of water in all the reservoirs of the island and the mainland during the past two days amounts to 60,000,000 gallons—44,000,000 gallons in Hong Kong and 16,000,000 gallons in Kowloon.

The Hon. Mr. H. T. Creasy, Director of Public Works, when asked, by the China Mail at 11.30 o'clock this morning as to the effect of the rain to the Colony's water situation, said that he was unable to give the information as he had not yet had an opportunity of studying the figures for the rainfall and the increases in the reservoirs. He added, however, that there would be no change in the waterworks arrangements for the present.

The rainfall had been particularly heavy in the Shing Mun Valley just when it was wanted and the water in store there has risen 2.25 inches, which increase is bigger than that of any of the other catchments in the Colony.

Yesterday's Rainfall.

The rainfall recorded at the Royal Observatory for the 24 hours ended at midnight yesterday showed 1.94 inches.

For the 24 hours ended at 10 a.m. yesterday, 1.22 inches of rain was recorded by the gauge at the Royal Observatory, and between 10 a.m. and 9 p.m. yesterday the figure rose to 1.63 inches, so that during the three hours from 9 p.m. to midnight, when there were a few small showers, a further 0.81 inch was recorded.

Royal Box.

FOREIGN OFFICE DINNER

London, Yesterday.

H.M. the King celebrated his 67th birthday to-day, and received congratulatory telegrams from all parts of the Empire. His Majesty spent the morning at Buckingham Palace, where he was engaged on routine duties, and later drove with the Queen to Epsom to witness the race for the Oaks Stakes.

Flags were flown at mast-heads of public buildings and the customary tribute of honour was paid by the Royal Navy at all home ports. Salutes of 21 guns were fired in Hyde Park and in Windsor Castle Park. Five thousand troops took part in the celebrations at Caterick Camp.

The Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, gave a dinner to celebrate the King's birthday at the Foreign Office, at which the Foreign Ambassadors and Ministers in London, members of cabinet, and others attended.—British Wireless Service.
